The flyer features a young woman with long dark hair looking at her phone. The background is a light yellow with a white brick wall. The Soluna logo is at the top. The text reads: "Mental health support that meets the moment". Below this, it says: "Soluna is a free, safe, confidential mental health service for New Jersey teens ages 13 to 18." There are three callout boxes: "Forums" with a post from "SerenaMoon" about struggling to talk to people, "Chat" with options to "Book a session" or "Drop-in Coaching", and a note "Available in English and Spanish". At the bottom, it says: "A space to build coping skills, set goals, and get 1:1 support to navigate life's challenges." Below this are three columns: "1:1 mental health coaching and counseling*", "Secure, moderated peer community", and "Mood log, articles, and tools for self-care". A QR code and a link "Visit SolunaApp.com/NewJersey to learn more or scan to download" are at the bottom.

The flyer has a purple-to-orange gradient background. At the top, the Soluna logo is on the left and a blue moon with a face is on the right. The title 'Your space to be you' is in a large, white, cursive font. Below it, a welcome message describes the app as a place to destress, reset, and bounce back, noting it's free for New Jersey teens 13 to 18. The middle section lists four features: 1:1 coaching and counseling, interactive tools, peer connection, and just-for-you content, each with a brief description. On the right, there are three overlapping smartphone screens showing app interfaces: 'Help is here' with a 'Book a counselor' button, a 'Drop-in' button, and a screen with a cartoon character. At the bottom left, it states 'No ads. No subscription.' and mentions funding from the New Jersey Department of Children and Families. At the bottom right, there is a QR code and a prompt to scan it to start the journey, with App Store and Google Play logos. A small disclaimer at the very bottom reads: '*Under 16 years old? Some app services may require parental consent.'
